

International Standards for Printable Electronics

Dr Chris Jones, Novalia (on behalf of 3M)

Abstract

In 2011 the International Electrotechnical Commission started Technical Committee 119 to set International Standards for Printed Electronics. Two years on from this TC119 is now generating the first draft documents.

This presentation will summarise the progress so far with particular emphasis on areas that could impact the flexible display community.

ultraprecision.org