

Printing Electronics and Consumer Experiences

Dr Chris Jones, Novalia

Abstract

The presentation will introduce the vision of combining traditional print processes with existing semiconductor electronics to create new consumer experiences. We will then roadmap the technology's progress over the last few years with a number of application examples and a view of how the technology will continue to evolve.

ultraprecision.org